

Cheap Nursing CEUs

Violence During Pregnancy and the Postpartum Period

1. Which of the following factors may account for the variation in violence prevalence estimates among published studies?

- A. The duration of the period examined in the studies
 - B. The assessment instruments used to document violence
 - C. All of the studies included the postpartum period
 - D. Both A and B
-

2. Violence, both before and during pregnancy, is not considered a strong risk factor for violence during the postpartum period.

- A. True
 - B. False
-

3. Studies show that older pregnant women have been found to be at increased risk of violence compared younger pregnant women.

- A. True
 - B. False
-

4. Violence against women during pregnancy and the postpartum period may lead to which of the following outcomes?

- A. Emotional health problems
 - B. Substance abuse
 - C. Low infant birth weight
 - D. All of the above
-

5. Which of the following may be considered a strength of the research literature on violence against pregnant and postpartum women?

- A. Randomized controlled trials are being used to examine the effectiveness of interventions for pregnant or postpartum violence survivors.
 - B. Many studies focus exclusively on physical violence.
 - C. Studies focus primarily on violence perpetrated by past/current intimate partners.
 - D. None of the above
-

Visit us at <https://www.cheapnursingceus.com>